

Honors Summer Ambassador: Call for Applications

About the Honors Summer Ambassador Leadership Role:

The Honors Summer Ambassador supports Honors Program staff during the in-person Honors information sessions at Premiere DePaul orientation. The Ambassador helps Honors staff with check-in and welcomes incoming Honors students and their guests. After a brief presentation, a group of incoming Honors students meet with their Honors advisor and the Ambassador. During the meet and greet incoming students will have the opportunity to ask questions about DePaul and the Honors Program. The Ambassador will be on hand to answer questions related to their experience at DePaul and in the Honors Program.

What makes a great Honors Ambassador?

Applicants must be a University Honors Program student and enrolled in fall quarter classes. Honors students from all class standings are welcome to apply. Applicants will receive training but should be generally familiar with university resources and the Honors Program. Outstanding applicants enjoy meeting new people, have an interest in helping their peers, are or have been involved in student or professional organizations, and should be comfortable speaking about their DePaul and Honors Program experience in small group and large group settings.
