

Prison Oversight as Democracy in Action

Course number: CRIM 390/LSP 301/ HON 302*

Autumn Quarter 2026, Wednesday 2:40 - 5:55 (LPC)

Meets experiential learning requirement

This course examines prisons as critical sites for testing the strength of democracy, accountability, and human rights.

Students will evaluate the roles of courts, government agencies, advocacy groups, and impacted communities in overseeing prisons. In partnership with the John Howard Association, the class engages with the lived experiences of those incarcerated and will culminate in a public event.

Questions? Please contact Dr. Freemon at KFREEMO2@depaul.edu

Prison Oversight as Democracy in Action

Course number: CRIM 390/LSP 301/ HON 302*

Meets experiential learning requirement

Autumn Quarter 2026, Wednesday 2:40 - 5:55 (LPC)

This course examines prisons as critical sites for testing the strength of democracy, accountability, and human rights.

Students will evaluate the roles of courts, government agencies, advocacy groups, and impacted communities in overseeing prisons. In partnership with the John Howard Association, the class engages with the lived experiences of those incarcerated and will culminate in a public event.

Questions? Please contact Dr. Freemon at KFREEMO2@depaul.edu